ENTERTAIN MANY GUESTS AT LUNCH

Iwanians Ask Friends to Become Associate Members of Club.

MANNINGTON, Dec. 6.—"Since the organization of the Mannington Kiwanis Club something like two years ago its object has been one of selflessness," declared President George W. Bowers at the weekly luncheon yesterday. He continued, "The prime purpose of the Kiwanis Club has been to do good for the general good, and not for any individuals, or group of individuals. In that time, or in five years, it shall have accomplished some good thing which will make Mannington better, it will have repaid all the effort that has been put into it."

Mr. Bowers thus expressed the purpose of the club for the benefit of several visiting friends from the jurisdiction of the district who had been asked to join the organization as associate members.

Howard Long reported that there are no new developments regarding the attempt to secure a new owned postoffice building for Mannington. Nothing has been heard, he said, since the letter was received from Ben L. Rosenbloom in which he offered to do what he could toward securing such a building.

The committee appointed to secure a new site for the city crematory reported that some difficulty had been met with in finding the property which might be used for such a purpose. A more definite report is expected by next week, however.

The milk ordinance in its amended form is ready for the approval of the city commission, but its passage has been held up awaiting some changes contemplated by the commission in other ordinances.

The question of raising funds sufficient to cover the expense of sending Coach C. G. Blake to a coaching school next year for a post-graduate course in coaching was brought up again, and a committee of three was appointed to assist in raising the needed amount.

Printed ballots were ordered prepared for the election of officers of the club next week, and these will be ready by Tuesday. It is said that time officers for the coming year will be elected.

Following the business session of the club short addresses were made by several of the visiting men, and by two new members of the club, including C. C. Hamilton, C. C. Martin, M. C. Martin, M. Thomas, James L. Hamilton, Dr. O. Bradley, C. G. Blake, and M. R. Hartshack.

The prizes yesterday were given to Harold Moore. They were awarded to Mr. R. Eastlack, Fred Burt and Roy F. Alder.

JACK DAW IN HOOPLAND

Story by Hal Cochran.

Chapter 7

Out of the crowd of Happy Hoops stepped a little fellow who announced that he was the director of sports in Hoopland. "We are going to have a day of races and other things," he told Jack, "and we want you to join us." Jack thought this would be fun and readily agreed.

So off went the band of Hoops, bound for the race track. Jack and Flip followed them. Shortly they came upon an open space where everything was set for an afternoon of fun. "First of all," said the sports leader, "we will have a mile run. Everybody get set to start."

Jack lined up with the Hoops and Flip stood at his side. Of course the little adventurer didn't know how they raced in Hoopland and he expected to win. Then somebody in the crowd yelled "Go!" and the Hoops pulled in their arms, legs and heads and started to roll. (Continued.)

INCONSISTENCY OF GRID CLAIM CITED

Hite's Own Reasoning Shows Fallacy of Clarksburg as Contender.

By C. W. SWIGER

MANNINGTON, Dec. 5.—Mannington High School, football champions of the state, won from Fairmont High by a score of 19-0, and just a week later Fairmont took over Washington- Irving 7-6. But the sport writer on the Clarksburg Telegram still claims that Mannington should play the Clarksburg team. It's a funny business at best.

Coach "Jerry" Blake of the Mannington team never said he was ready to play Parkersburg for the championship, for the reason that Parkersburg is long since out of the running. Clarksburg acknowledges this, and eliminates Parkersburg from the eligible list because Huntington, after winning from Parkersburg, was in turn outplayed by the Clarksburg boys.

Mannington may not have played any of the so-called ranking teams, but Mannington has played, and won, from teams which have won from them. On Coach Clay B. Hite's own reasoning the Telegram's claim is the limit in inconsistency, local fans say.

Football games are not lost or won through newspaper publicity, and Coach Hite has not issued a formal challenge to Mannington. It was stated emphatically yesterday.

The only team in the state which Mannington feels might have a right claim for the championship along with Mannington is St. Mary's and that team has given no indication of a desire for a post season game. Since St. Mary's does not claim the championship, Mannington, an undefeated, untied team, stands alone the sole reasonable contender for the state title this year.

Mannington Society

Local Girls Honored.

Two Mannington girls were honored by being elected officers of the Young Women's Division of the Regional Sunday School Conference being held in Wheeling this week.

Miss Vance spoke on the subject, "Reorganizing Others," and Miss Hess discussed the theme, "How to Organize." Miss Vance also spoke on "The Equipment a Class Needs."

The fourfold life is being emphasized at the conference, especially by the young people. Equal development of the religious, mental, social and physical powers is being urged. More than 200 delegates are attending the conference.

To Give Play.
Much interest is being aroused by the play which is to be given Friday night by the women of the Presbyterian Church, and a delightful evening is assured. One of the members stated this morning that the public "will see that Mrs. E. C. McCarnes can preach, even if she isn't the preacher's wife."

Premier Seven Dance.
The Premier Seven gave a delightful dance in the K. of P. Hall last evening. The affair was one of the most successful given by the local orchestra for a long time.

BONDED LIQUOR DISAPPEARS FAST

More Than Three Million Gallons Less Than Previous Year Reported.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—There were 35,862,195 gallons of taxable liquors in distilleries in bonded warehouses when the last count was made June 30, last, according to tables filed with the House appropriations committee by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and made public today.

To show how it is disappearing, the amount under government control was 3,445,304 gallons less than on the same date in 1921.

Here is how much there is: Whisky 35,588,567 gallons; rum, 384,011; gin, 987,584; high wines, 1,073; alcohol, 543,347.

If anybody wants to check these figures to see if they give with the grand total he is reminded that the amount of neutral or cologne spirits was not included.

Dr. J. M. Moran, chief of the bureau's industrial alcohol division, told the committee there were about 800,000 barrels of whisky in 292 bonded warehouses, 170 of these housed in Kentucky.

Based on the bonded contents, that would seem to set more than shown in the tables. Whisky evaporates rapidly in the wood when put aside to age and develop the glow, which made the Kentucky product famous throughout the world.

The Blue Ridge We do not realize, perhaps just what may mean to the future of the artists who appear at the Blue Ridge from time to time, but only recently it was brought home to me rather forcibly in the experience of two young women.

They were charming and refined to the highest degree, both being college girls of decided talent and culture and their work on piano and violin, as well as their vocal selections, were artistically rendered, and of a very high class, and as we reported after their first appearance, would do credit to any platform.

But either their entertainment was over the heads of the audience or they just did not make a popular appeal as vaudeville performers, for they were not enthusiastically received and there was a very noticeable scarcity of applause.

We talked to the young ladies at the Y. W. C. A. later, and they were discouraged to the point of giving up, or, if they continued in vaudeville it seem that they must lower their standard to win the plaudits of the crowd, and success in their chosen field of endeavor. You might ask why they do not enter a field as entertainers where they would be appreciated, but as the chorus is often the first step to opera; and the extra pay be the making of a motion picture star, so vaudeville is the first stepping stone of times to the concert platform.

And Keith vaudeville, as is generally known, is classed at the top in their line of entertainment, so beginners consider themselves fortunate if they can secure a booking with them.

We think our readers should know something of the happenings "behind the scenes" and how their indifference and lack of appreciation and applause affects the careers of those who are trying to entertain them, and as a hot-house plant cannot thrive and blossom in an ice-house, neither can entertainers do their best before a cold, unresponsive audience.

Today another group of girls, who are as equally attractive as those about whom we have told you, are to appear in a delightful evening, and that should please the most critical and who enjoy their offering let them know it, likewise the other artists.

The Dixie.
It is enough for some folk to know that Norma Talmadge is to appear in a picture, but talented as she is, she is not always given vehicles that suit her capabilities and charm, but "The Wonderful Thing," in which she is seen at the Dixie today, gives her wide scope for the display of her talents, as well as allowing her the opportunity to show the real worth of the typical American girl.

The story tells how a convent bred girl, who marries an Englishman of an aristocratic but poverty stricken family, believing he loves her, for herself alone, finds out later that he has married her for her money. But he learns her real value, after he has married her because of her unselfish kindnesses to members of his family, and he finally succeeds in making her understand his feelings regarding her.

There are many pretty scenes throughout the film, and the cast is of exceptional merit. Buster Keaton provides the comedy of the program.

The Nelson.
We like sometimes to get the viewpoint of young people concerning the pictures that appear from time to time, and so last night we heard some young men and women discussing "Manslaughter," which is appearing at the Nelson all week, and we were struck with some of their opinions, one of which was that prison sentences, such as were meted out to the young women in the story, were not likely to reform, but hardened folk in real life. Punishment—another thought was not the solution to crime, but a better and more effective method would be to make the offender see the error of his ways by pointing out a better way of living.

Splendid argument and worthy cause, though it is not, it only could be put into practice.

But the time is not yet, for such a condition is too nearly ideal to be realized soon, but if this is the trend of the thought of our present so called "trivialous" young people, who will be the citizens of tomorrow, we might expect to see some change in our form of government in the future.

We think there is offered more real food for thought in "Manslaughter" than any picture we have seen in recent months, and, whether you agree with the ideas as set forth or not, as parents, educators and adults of any class, you will not have wasted your time if you go to see this picture, but we would advise you to leave the kiddies at home, for it offers nothing for them.

The Princess.
Light entertainment that commands itself only to those who are looking for that kind is furnished in "Sure Fire Flint" and a "Princess" today.

Johnny Hines, the comedian is the leading spirit in the first named and Bull Montana in the last and as Mr. Montana is the most ferocious looking actor on the screen, and can lay no claims to good looks, you can imagine about what he would be like in a picture entitled "A Ladies Man" in which he plays the starring role.

CRISIS REACHED IN ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION ACT

General Disposition to 'Tighten Up' Reported by Commissioner Haynes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The crisis in the federal prohibition enforcement fight has been reached in the opinion of Commissioner Haynes, it was disclosed today in reports of recent hearings before a House appropriations sub-committee.

In asking $9,000,000 for the next fiscal year for his department, Mr. Haynes told the committee that if a similar amount was allowed for prohibition enforcement continuously for five or six years, a reduction then ought to be possible, but that the critical period for enforcement was now at hand. Mr. Haynes said there were 3,800 men employed in the work of prohibition enforcement. Because the appropriation asked for next year represents a reduction of $250,000 from this year's outlay, he said there would be a slight reduction in his forces but he hoped to rearrange the organization so as to not appreciably lessen its efficiency.

The committee said he "was gratified" with the present functioning of his enforcement machinery and that the department was securing "fine co-operation" from states and counties in the main.

Courts were becoming "more sympathetic," he asserted, and jail sentences and fines were becoming heavier.

"There is a general disposition to tighten up," he added.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, the prohibition commissioner said there were 20,438 convictions in federal courts for violations of the prohibition laws. At the end of the year, 15,910 cases were pending in federal courts, bringing the total of cases handled to 44,774. The figures, he said, did not include cases in state courts. Fines in federal courts which were deposited in the treasury he placed at $2,791,000.

Mr. Haynes asked for $150,000 for buying evidence and said that a similar amount had been spent in that way during the past year.

Mr. Haynes told the committee there had been a splendid co-operation by the House towards his department's work and immediately clashed with Mr. Gallivan over the results of the elections of November, the representative citing the voting down in his state of an enforcement measure, and the commissioner asserted that prohibition had won where "conditions were normal."

FRANK FISHER HURT WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Frank Fisher was painfully injured at 10 o'clock today when a Ford automobile driven by J. R. Tuckwiler crashed into S. L. Watson's Packard car driven by Howard Cunningham, in which Mr. Fisher was riding, on the Buffalo Creek Bridge on the Riverside road.

The accident occurred when Tuckwiler who was going toward Riverside and was near the end of the bridge, saw an interurban car bearing down upon him. He suddenly turned his car out of the street car tracks colliding with the Packard car which was crossing the bridge coming toward the city. The Ford car skidded slightly on the street car rail and when Mr. Tuckwiler succeeded in getting the wheel out of the track it jumped and hit the larger car.

Fisher, who was riding in the front seat of the Packard, was thrown through the windshield and was badly cut about the head and face. Cunningham and Tuckwiler escaped with slight injury. The Packard car was badly damaged, while the Ford escaped with slight damage, according to Chief of Police L. D. Snider, who made an investigation of the accident.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui

DUBLIN, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Huggert residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Huggert said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful periods. I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."

It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."

"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."

If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Huggert mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years.

Plans are being made for the annual observance of Christmas Day by the Knights Templar in Masonic Temple on Christmas morning at 11:30 o'clock under the direction of Crusade Commandery, No. 6. The affair will be open to the sir knights, Masons and their friends. There will be special music. Details for the event have not been completed as yet.

In keeping with the annual custom toasts will be offered to the officers of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, those of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar, West Virginia, the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons and the most Worshipful Grand Lodge, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, of West Virginia.

Crusade Commandery will be inspected on Friday evening, December 15, in the asylum in Masonic Temple, by F. E. Delbridge, Clarksburg, grand junior warden of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of West Virginia. Indications are that the meeting will be largely attended.

At last night's meeting of Crusade Commandery, the Red Cross and Malta degrees were conferred upon two candidates. The work was exemplified in a creditable manner.

WHEELING MAN TO SPEAK IN LOCAL CHURCH FRIDAY

Services are being held in the Diamond Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Diamond and Market streets at 7:30 o'clock each night this week, and tomorrow night Dr. C. Fred Anderson of Wheeling, who is superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Wheeling District, will preach.

Tonight the sermon will be preached by the Rev. A. D. Crair, pastor of the church, and Friday night Mrs. Rosa Modt of Mannington will speak. The Rev. Thomas Zumbrennen of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church of Grafton spoke at the meeting last night, and an appeal was made to young people.
